			The Monarch Internship and Co-Op Office was created in the Academic Success Center to centralize support for internships and co-ops. The School of Nursing hired a simulation nurse educator to grow hands-on simulation learning experiences in undergraduate and graduate nursing curricula. Nursing students are assigned rotations as members of the health care team providing primary care services to residents of the City of Franklin. The ePortfolio and Digital Initiatives housed in the Academic Success Center are tasked with providing tutoring, workshops, class visits, tutorials related to high impact/experiential digital pedagogical practices such as ePortfolio integration and XR-enhanced activities. 			The Academic Success Center partnered with associate deans to request additional academic advisors within various colleges to lower caseload numbers and provide more comprehensive advising. The Center also conducted research to compare advising models with the models used by ODU peer institutions. By interviewing advising directors and experts, the Center will be better positioned to adopt best practices and consider initiatives to improve the advising system and infrastructure.	Four critical challenges to be addressed include: (1) high caseloads for advisors; (2) inadequate coordination and communication due to the decentralized advising model; (3) inadequate space to meet the needs of undeclared or undecided students; and (4) lack of career paths for advisors.	Academic Affairs internal units	There is a need for reorganized positions to serve new needs including Interdisciplinary Schools. A NACADA consultant team needs to review and provide recommendations for a possible revised advising structure and caseload. Also, research reports should be utilized to update the advising models and structures.	Several positions have been moved from the Regional Higher Education Centers to augment advising services. 			In Fall 2022, ODU joined the membership of Quality Matters, an international organization dedicated to research on and implementation of standards to help ensure course quality. DDL has implemented their rubric as part of online course development review, and many DDL staff have been formally trained on the guidelines. Faculty now complete a QM training with Instructional Designers as part of the course development process. Two staff are more fully trained as QM certified facilitators. These externally developed standards provide clear, consistent guidelines to assist content experts in course design and structure that is accessible by a diverse student body and supports their success. 			In FY23, University Libraries began a multi-year effort to upgrade the physical environment in Perry Library, in order to make it more welcoming and inviting. These efforts are being funded with Libraries endowment funds. Accomplishments so far include replacing carpeting and repainting the 3rd floor atrium and Special Collections and University Archives Reading Room. Carpet replacement, repainting, installation of new shelving, and other upgrades will transform Perry Library first floor east into the home of the Naro Video Collection in Fall 2024.	Funding to improve the physical environment is coming from the Libraries budget, so efforts must be sustained and gradual over many years.
